Dear Dr. McComis:

The American Registry of Radiologic Technologists® (ARRT®) appreciated the opportunity to evaluate the accrediting agency application for recognition as an acceptable accreditation mechanism submitted by the Accrediting Commission of Career Schools and Colleges (ACCSC). ARRT considered the recognition status of ACCSC at the January 2016 Board of Trustee meeting. The accrediting agency was evaluated according to the ARRT Standards for Recognition of Accrediting Agencies, effective January 1, 2013. The Board of Trustees voted that:

ACCSC be recognized by ARRT as an institutional accrediting agency effective January 20, 2016.

The ARRT reviews and revises its ARRT Standards for Recognition of Accrediting Agencies every five years. The then current standards of ARRT-recognized accrediting agencies are automatically reviewed at that time to assure continued compliance with the revised ARRT standards. If a recognized accrediting agency meets the revised standards, no further action is needed, and ARRT will notify the agency of the continued recognition. The next ARRT standards review is scheduled for July 2020.

The American Registry of Radiologic Technologists would like to thank ACCSC for submitting an application for recognition as an ARRT-recognized institutional accreditor. If we can be of further assistance, do not hesitate to contact me at 651-681-3160.

Sincerely,
