As announced to the ACCSC membership during the 2014 Professional Development Conference in Denver, Colorado, today, the Accrediting Commission of Career Schools and Colleges (ACCSC) launched its newly developed Online Training Center (ACCSC-OTC), www.accsctraining.org.

Powered by MaxKnowledge, the ACCSC-OTC provides a variety of free resources as well as fee-based training courses that cover a myriad of compliance elements required by ACCSC's Standards of Accreditation. The ACCSC-OTC also offers a wide range of professional development opportunities for administrators, staff, and faculty of ACCSC-accredited institutions, including an interactive development tool to enable employees to plan, monitor, and document their professional development activities.

"ACCSC believes that quality on-going professional development and effective compliance training are essential to institutional and student success," said Dr. Michale McComis, Executive Director of ACCSC. "The ACCSC-OTC represents our continuous commitment to remain a leading voice in the accreditation community and to remain at the forefront of advancing quality career education."

"We are honored to partner with ACCSC to support their member services," said Dr. Amir Moghadam, CEO of MaxKnowledge. "We strongly believe that well-trained, highly skilled employees improve institutional effectiveness and student outcomes. Our partnership with ACCSC signifies our shared values."
